

Royal London Sustainable Short Duration Corporate Bond Fund

Key points

- Combines our strong heritage in sustainable investing and our market-leading sterling credit franchise.
- Access to a diverse set of borrowers with attractive sustainable characteristics across a variety of economic sectors.
- Enhanced lending position through secured debt bias.
- Lower interest rate sensitivity than longer duration credit funds, whilst sharing the same philosophy and process of our wider sustainable credit range.
- High quality portfolio that seeks to deliver a yield premium versus its benchmark.

Investment process

The fund provides access to a diverse choice of investment opportunities, with a well-established investment process with sustainability at its heart. We have a market-leading sustainable team who use proprietary, bottom-up research to analyse and understand the Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) profile of bonds, proactively assessing credit issuers against clear sustainability criteria. Our sustainable process has evolved over 20 years, making Royal London Asset Management one of the most experienced sustainable asset managers in this area. Our sustainable investment expertise is further supported by an independent External Advisory Committee.

As well as a rigorous assessment of the sustainability of a potential bond, returns are further underpinned by focusing on issuers offering additional bondholder protections wherever possible. These legal enhancements, such as security over assets, can help mitigate downside risk if borrowers do find themselves in difficulty. The fund is also highly diversified, helping to minimise the impact if any one company deteriorates.

Despite the fund focusing on shorter maturity bonds to reduce interest rate sensitivity, our long-established approach to identifying the most attractive sustainable bond opportunities is common across our existing sustainable credit funds.

In addition to an attractive yield, sustainable credit offers investors access to a variety of socially impactful sectors that are often out of reach of public equity investors, such as charities, government agencies or privately owned businesses. Figure 1 highlights the current fund exposures, extending from social housing charities providing affordable rents to those in need, to utilities playing a vital role in the energy transition.

Investment risks

The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed. Investors may not get back the amount invested.

Credit Risk: Should the issuer of a fixed income security become unable to make income or capital payments, or their rating is downgraded, the value of that investment will fall. Fixed income securities that have a lower credit rating can pay a higher level of income and have an increased risk of default.

Efficient Portfolio Management (EPM) techniques: The Fund may engage in EPM techniques including holdings of derivative instruments. Whilst intended to reduce risk, the use of these instruments may expose the Fund to increased price volatility.

Interest Rate Risk: Fixed interest securities are particularly affected by trends in interest rates and inflation. If interest rates go up, the value of capital may fall, and vice versa. Inflation will also decrease the real value of capital.

Liquidity Risk: In difficult market conditions the value of certain fund investments may be difficult to value and harder to sell, or sell at a fair price, resulting in unpredictable falls in the value of your holding.

Counterparty Risk: The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Fund to financial loss.

Charges from Capital Risk: Charges are taken from the capital of the Fund. Whilst this increases the yield, it also has the effect of reducing the potential for capital growth.

Responsible Investment Style Risk:

The Fund can only invest in holdings that demonstrate compliance with certain sustainable indicators or ESG characteristics. This reduces the number securities in which the Fund can invest and there may as a result be occasions where it forgoes more strongly performing investment opportunities, potentially underperforming non-sustainable funds.
